

ODDS FAVOR G. O. P. IN RACE FOR SENATE

Republicans Must Gain 8 Seats in 32 States for Comfortable Majority.

While the campaign just closing has been outwardly devoted chiefly to the Presidency, there has been waged, more or less quietly, a hard struggle over the control of the Senate.

If Wilson is re-elected, it will be all important to him to have control of both houses of Congress. If Mr. Hughes is elected, he cannot put his policies in force without a Republican Senate and a Republican House.

Elections in Thirty-two States. Elections of Senators will be held in thirty-two States tomorrow. In Indiana, two Senators are to be elected. In Maine, the two Senators already have been chosen, the Republicans making a gain of one there.

The Republicans must gain seven seats in the Senate, additional to the one gained in Maine, to tie the Senate.

In other words, if they make a net gain of seven tomorrow and elect a Vice President they can organize the Senate. They really need a net gain of eight to make the situation at all comfortable.

The Republicans will probably gain by electing Johnson in California, Watson and New in Indiana, Frellinghuysen in New Jersey, Calder in New York, Herrick in Ohio, and Sutherland in West Virginia.

They may defeat Ashurst in Arizona, Lewis in Maryland, Myers in Montana, Hitchcock in Nebraska, and Pittman in Nevada.

The results in these five States are in doubt. The Reed-Dickey fight in Missouri also is in doubt.

Seem To Have Good Chance. On the face of things, therefore, the Republicans seem to have a good chance to win the Senate. However, there are several States in which they are uncertain of re-electing a Republican.

Democratic gains in these States may balk the Republican hopes of winning the upper house.

The States now represented by Republican Senators which are close, on the Senatorship and which the Republicans may lose, include Connecticut, Delaware, North Dakota, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming. In Wisconsin, while La Follette has a hard fight, he will apparently be re-elected.

OMAHA WETS TRY TO STOP BRYAN TALK

Cut Tires on Automobile and Threaten Violence.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 6.—William Jennings Bryan spoke on prohibition to 10,000 people in the streets of Omaha while a "wet" mob yelled constantly, cut the tires of the dry campaign automobile to ribbons, and threatened violence to the speaker and his party.

In order to prevent Mr. Bryan from speaking the wets had bought the local convention hall and even the lot where Billy Sunday's tabernacle stood.

The Nebraska campaign for prohibition is admitted by both "pro" and "anti" to be the greatest ever put up in any State. The Methodist board of Temperance, which has its headquarters in Washington, has covered the State with motor cars under the direction of Dr. Clarence True Wilson, the board's general secretary.

Dr. John MacFarlane, pastor of Union Methodist Church, Washington, has been in charge of one of the cars. The Methodist board has centered their campaign on Omaha during the last week. The dry campaigners have no doubt whatever that the State will go dry.

Dr. Wilson's office at 204 Pennsylvania avenue southeast states that the automobile campaign of the Methodist board has covered the entire Pacific coast. The board, which is a strong reason to believe that South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, and Michigan will vote dry tomorrow. The prohibition fight is also up in California, Missouri, and Alaska.

The Methodist board has just received a donation of twelve acres of land near Portland, Ore., valued at $5,000.
